

A technical drawing of a garment front, likely a bodice or vest, showing two outlines: a red outer line and a green inner line. The red line defines the outer shape, including a notched lapel collar and a curved hemline. The green line defines the inner shape, which is slightly smaller than the red one, suggesting a lining or a different layer of the garment. The word "FRENTE" is printed in the center in a bold, purple, sans-serif font.
